Numb. 8349.

The London Gazette.

Published by Authority.

From Saturday July 28. to Tuesday July 31. 1744.

Lisbon, July 13.

HIS Portugueſe Majeſty, with Part of the Royal Family, went to the Caldas the 11th Inſtant; the Queen and Princeſs go to-day, and it is thought the Court will remain there all the Summer.

Naples, June 30. The laſt Poſt from Meſſina brought an Atteſtation, ſigned by all the Conſuls of foreign Nations reſiding there, of the confirmed good State of Health of that City, and all the neighbouring Places. At Reggio the Sickneſs was not quite extinct, but by the great Precautions uſed, it is hoped it will ſoon be ſo. The News of her Sicilian Majeſty's Delivery is hourly expected, all thoſe who are to be preſent upon that Occaſion having been ſent for to Gaeta.

Genoa, July 16. Letters from Villa Franca adviſe, that the Spaniards had entirely abandoned that Place and Nice, and were gone towards Antibes. Some ſay that the French Garriſon of Monaco has taken Poſſeſſion of the Caſtle of Monte Albano, and that as the Fortifications are undermined, they will, on the firſt Appearance of an Enemy, blow the Works up and retire. They write from Toulon the 2d Inſtant, that on the 25th paſt ſailed a Sixty and a Twenty Gun Ship, with a Shebeck of 16 Guns for Carthagena; and that 15 French, and four Spaniſh Ships were in the Road, expecting Orders to ſail every Day to join the Spaniſh Fleet there. The Maſter of a Dutch Ship, who arrived from thence in 16 Days, aſſures us, that the Real, and three more large Ships, will not be in a Condition to put to Sea for ſome Months, having received ſo much Damage in the late Engagement; that they were making new Maſts for the Real, and that eight Sail of Spaniſh Men of War had their Sails bent, but were in great Want of Seamen. They write from Barcelona, that the Intendant had received preſſing Orders to raiſe 2000 Seamen, and to ſend them by Land to Carthagena to mann the Fleet, and that they were alſo raiſing 3000 Recruits to ſend to Don Philip's Army. The Armies in the Roman State continue about Velletri, and have great Sickneſs amongſt them, and it is daily expected that M. de Gages will be obliged to retreat. This Republick continues her military Preparations, and enliſts into her Service all the Deſerters that come daily from the Armies in the Roman State and in Savoy.

Hambourg, July 31. We hear that the Swedes have reſolved to leſſen their Army, by a Reduction of 50 Men in each Regiment.

Paris, July 31, N. S. The Prince of Conti has made himſelf Maſter of two Poſts. He took his Meaſures ſo well that he got round the Barricades with three different Corps, the Chief of which came down through the Valley of Stura. M. de Palavicini, who commanded at the Poſt of the Barricades, ſeeing himſelf in Danger of having the Enemy in his Rear, thought proper to retire. Thereupon the French Army came down to Sambuc in order to advance towards Demont. As ſoon as the Prince of Conti had Advice that they had got Poſſeſſion of that Poſt, he ſent Orders to all the other Generals that commanded particular Bodies, to forbear making any other Attack, and to direct their March towards Demont. Theſe Orders came too late to M. de Givri. He having obſerved that in Conſequence of what paſſed at the Barricades, the Enemy had call'd off Part of the Troops which they had at Chateau Dauphin, thought it a proper Time to fall upon this laſt Poſt, which he took after a ſtout Reſiſtance, and an Engagement of above four Hours. The Defence was ſo obſtinate, that our Generals had deſpaired of Succeſs, and had actually thrice ſounded to retreat; but the Troops refuſed to obey, and came off with Honour, but with a prodigious Loſs. We had but 10 Battalions engaged in this Attack. Two of our General Officers were wounded in it, three Colonels killed, and all the Lieutenant Colonels, Majors and Captains of Grenadiers either killed or wounded. The King of Sardinia was himſelf preſent, and expreſſed his Aſtoniſhment at the Obſtinacy of the Action. We can form no Judgment of the Conſequences of this Affair, till we have farther Intelligence.

Bruſſels, Auguſt 3, N. S. The Courier Strain, who was diſpatched from Hagenau upon the 30th of July, has this Morning brought her moſt Serene Highneſs the agreeable News, that Prince Charles having made the neceſſary Diſpoſitions, and begun his March, in order to attack Hagenau, and force the Paſſage of the Motter, the Enemy had abandoned that Place, as alſo alſo Druſenheim, with their Lines and Intrenchments, and retired with Precipitation towards Strasbourg. Colonel Trenck entred Hagenau upon the 29th, at which Place the Head Quarters of the Auſtrian Army at preſent are. Our Light Troops very much harraſſed the Rear Guard of the Enemy, and amongſt others took Priſoner an Adjutant General of Count Seckendorf's Corps. The Deſertion amongſt the Enemy is very conſiderable, and our Army is preparing to puſh and purſue them. In the mean while, one of our Detachments continues to block up Fort Louis ſo cloſely, that, ſince the 20th of July, when four ſmall Barks, under favour of the Inundation, found Means to ſlip into it, all Communication with that Town has been cut off.

Hague, Aug. 4, N. S. Letters from Rome of the 18th paſt, continue to repreſent Prince Lobcowitz and M. de Gages in the ſame Poſture they have ſo long been in, neither advancing nor retreating. The Princeſs Royal and Prince of Orange are expected here To-morrow, to repoſe themſelves a Day or two, in their Way from Friſeland to Breda, where their Highneſſes propoſe to paſs the Remainder of this Summer.

Portſmouth, July 28. This Morning at Six o' Clock, Sir John Balchen, with the Squadron under his Command, put to Sea from St. Helens.

Whitehall, July 28, 1744.

Whereas it has been humbly repreſented to the King, that a threatening Letter was found this Morning in the Area of the Houſe of William Granger in Leiceſter Fields, in the Pariſh of St. Martin in the Fields, in the County of Middleſex, in the Words following:

"William Granger

"This comes to let you know that if you do not "pull down your Signe and Leave of periwig making "before the firſt Day of Auguſt next Wee will do it "for you and murder you where ever We ſee you at "a convenient Opportunity. I am one of a hundred "that has ſigned this July 26 1744.

J° Reſolute.

His Majeſty, for the better diſcovering and bringing to Juſtice the Perſon or Perſons concerned in Writing or Sending the above Letter, is pleaſed to promiſe his moſt gracious Pardon to any one who ſhall diſcover his or her Accomplice or Accomplices therein, except the Perſon who wrote the ſaid Letter.

CARTERET.

And as a farther Encouragement to ſuch Diſcovery, a Reward of Twenty Pounds will be paid to any Perſon, who ſhall diſcover his or her Accomplice or Accomplices therein, upon Conviction of the Offender or Offenders, by me the ſaid William Granger.

Wm. Granger.
